Extra help

NOTE: CREATE PAGES AND LIVE TEMPLATES BY TYPING IT INTO THE ADDRESS BAR AND FOLLOWING CREATE DIRECTION

When you first start using the free Wikidot, there is a lot to handle if you are creating a live template. I started with something called a Monobook theme, a theme is the name you give it (AWWshop 1) and then you add the site CSS by clicking edit. After that just remove all pages and live templates set to categories from the Wiki first theme to delete the theme from the custom tab, but only after the next step. And now you are ready to install only your theme.

Live templates share one template, root pages like /start, /about, and /whatever will use the same live template. The template is at /_template

Category live templates are created by following /category:_template

Category pages are created by following /category:page-name-maybe-even-function-who-knows-here
