

Introduction to TiddlyWiki

by George Frias <https://bit.ly/3ccqLfr>
<https://awwshop.wikidot.com/frontend:applications-tiddlywiki/>

2021-01-04 | 2021-01-16

The only frontend app

What TiddlyWiki is

TiddlyWiki is a frontend app. That is something that is made out of HTML, CSS, and JavaScript. That's right, this file solely exists as a HTML file, and if you save images inline using the data:image directive, you can keep it that way.

The app works by adding new tiddlers (commonly known as posts or even entries) into the file itself. Everytime the file is changed locally, or even the live version in your browser, you need to save and upload the file to the web server.